To my family-Mom, Dad, Martin, Mike, & Mommy, I am indebted to you more than you will ever know. I love you and I owe you my heartfelt thanks. Jerry, you've made these years a little more bearable. And Joshua, I love you and all your little smiles. And to all my friends, your support has meant so much to me. Thank You All.

People are always blaming their circumstances for what they are. I don't believe in circumstances. The people who get on in this world are the people who get up and look for the circumstances they want, and if they can't find them, make them.

Star stuff

"To laugh often and love much;
to win respect of intelligent persons and the
affection of children;
to earn the approbation of honest critics and
to endure the betrayal of false friends;
to appreciate beauty;
to find the best in others;
to give of one's self;
to leave the world a bit better, whether by
a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed
social condition;
to have played and laughed with enthusiasm
and sung with exultation;
to know that even one life has breathed easier
because you have lived—
this is to have succeeded."

Much love to my Richtown boy.
The one who holds my heart in his hands

A friend is someone who understands your past, believes in your future, and accepts you today just the way you are.

Krissy Martin (left) and Gondica Nguyen (middle), are the dearest friends in my heart, who love and care for me unconditionally.

Thanks to my teachers and all the friends I've made at Annie Wright for making my two years here memorable ones. I'll miss you all. Best wishes to E.H, T.S., S.W., G.A., K.C., C.S., M.S., J.L., S.O., R.T., and the rest of the class of 1995.

How do I feel about you?
That is the one question I cannot answer.
My Very being exists for you.
I watched you blossom and grow into a
woman so beautiful.
My heart aches to think of you leaving.
I'll remember you laughing, and
crying, and signing, and sighing,
but how will you remember me?
Just know that every song I sing for you, my best friend, my sister,
I Love You.
You are but a star in a universe of
people, but you shine the brightest,
Always shine bright, Ali-Boo,
and the sky will be yours.

Things never really are perfect.
But inside you, you can always see them perfect, if you try.
That makes things beautiful to me.

It started out on a sunny day,
when no one knew
how long the way,
could be to reach the goal.

The flight was long and short the time,
which ran away so fast;
and never by full memory
I will forget the past.

A million thanks to my teachers and family, to whom I am forever indebted. Mom, I don't know how to express my gratitude for sacrificing so much to send me here. Thanks for putting up with me: George, Renee, Jess, and Mondo. I love you.

A lone white sail shows for an instant
Where gleams the sea, an azure streak
What left it in its homeland distant?
In alien parts what does it seek?

The billows play, the mast bends, creaking,
The wind, impatient, moans and sighs...
It is not joy that it is seeking,
Nor it is happiness it flies.

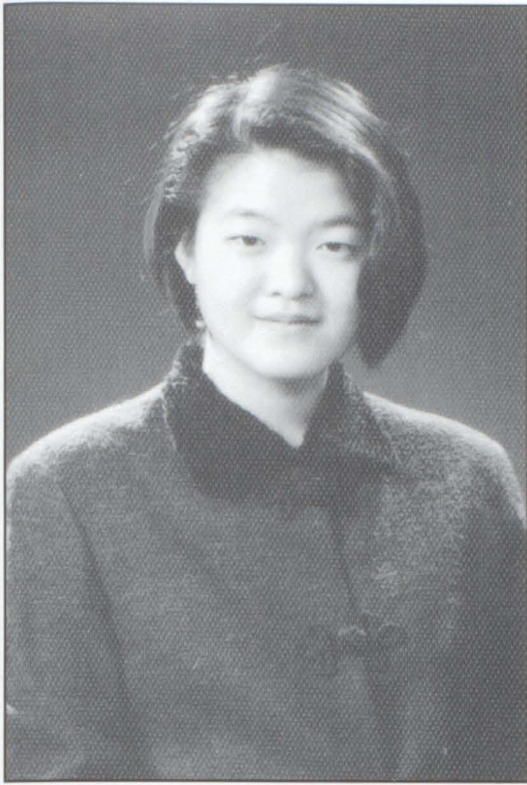

The blue waves dance, they dance and tremble,
The sun's bright rays caress the seas.
And yet for storms it begs, the rebel,
As if in storms lurked calm and peace!..

To AWS and all my friends (you know who you are):
14 years is a long time! Thanks for helping me all the way and for being my second home. Thanks for the good times and great memories. I love you all.

You'll get mixed up, of course, as you already know. You'll get mixed up with many strange birds as you go. So be sure when you step, step with care and great tact and remember that life's a Great Balancing Act. Just never forget to be dexterous and deft. And never mix up your right foot with your left. Many thanks to my parents, who gave me the fantastic opportunity to experience a wonderful, but often stressful year at Annie Wright School, where I finally grew up to an adult.

'GOD'S WILL IS DOING THOSE THINGS WE KNOW TO BE RIGHT FOR EACH DAY AND DOING THEM THE BEST WE POSSIBLY CAN.'

This sentence was my incentive for each day here in America and especially for my daily life at Annie Wright.

I want to thank you, all my teachers, Advisors and friends, who supported me and helped me becoming part of the school both in academic and social programs by representing my ideas and the culture of Germany.

Many thanks also to my unforgettable host-families Donahue, Boufieth and Elam-Fitzgerald, who introduced me to the American family life.

"We are all made of Star stuff !"
Mr. Timson

"You see only your most beautiful self reflected in the eyes of a true friend" Thanks for letting me see my beautiful self. I hope you've been able to do the same! I will forever love you and respect you no matter what! B/F/F

"We go together like"....you know the rest! You guys are the best!

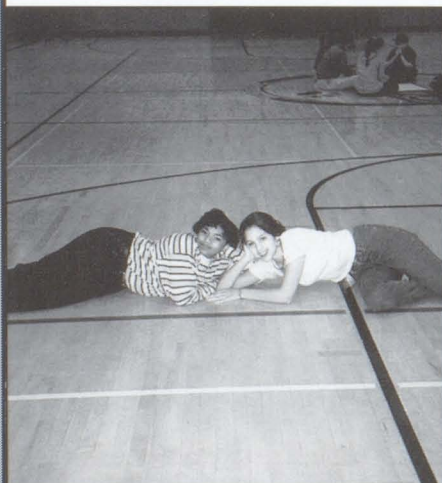

I love you!

Taya Buddy! What can I say! I love you with all my heart. You've helped me more than you could ever know. Oh yeah, the motor home says hi!

I love you so much mamma, words could never express. I promise I'll be something you can be proud of. God gave me a wonderful gift in you and I'm eternally grateful! God Bless and Thank You!

Your ears can finally have a break, but only for a little bit! You guys are some of the best listeners, and friends I love you! P.S. Sunflower Always stick out your chest and Sunshine will find you!

You two better hang in there and make me proud!
Thank you for everything and I love you to death!
Love Mom

Ms. Bauska & Rhondi: Thank you so much for being hard on me. I know you want me to succeed. I love you. I'll keep in touch and I'll make you proud!!

Wendy Sue: Thank's for listening and most of all understanding a sista! Revolution! I love ya babe!

PLAYS

The Theater started off with a guest director, Mr. Bryan Willis. Under his guidance the Upper School actors presented a series of one act plays which were well received by the public.

Mr. Michael Self returned from a trimester in Japan. His experiences were used to translate the Shakespearean drama "MacBeth" into a play set in Imperial Japan. The play met with critical success!

The yearbook staff would like to give a special thank you to all of the people and businesses that helped to make this book a reality. We hope that you will enjoy the 1995 Shield for years to come.

Best Wishes to the Class of 1995

Giants, Wizards, and Gnomes was the game to play.

Being left in charge of about eighty children...while their parents were off doing parenty things, I mustered my troops in the church social hall and explained the game. It's a large-scale version of Rock, Paper and Scissors, and involves some decision making. But the real purpose of the game is to make a lot of noise and run around chasing people until nobody knows which side you are on or who won.

Organizing a roomful of wired-up gradeschoolers into two teams, explaining the rudiments of the game, achieving consensus on group identity - all this is no mean accomplishment, but we did it with a right good will and were ready to go.

The excitement of the chase had reached a critical mass. I yelled out: "You have to decide now which you are - a GIANT, a WIZARD, or a GNOME!"

While the group huddled in frenzied, whispered consultation, a tug came at my pants leg. A small child stands there looking up, and asks in a small, concerned voice, "Where do the Mermaids stand?"

A long pause. A very long pause. "Where do the Mermaids stand?" says I.

"Yes. You see, I am a Mermaid."

"There are no such things as Mermaids."

"Oh, yes, I am one!"

She did not relate to being a Giant, a Wizard, or a Gnome. She knew her category. Mermaid. And was not about to leave the game and go over and stand against the wall where a loser would stand. She intended to participate, wherever Mermaids fit into the scheme of things. Without giving up dignity or identity. She took it for granted that there was place for Mermaids and that I would know just where.

Well, where DO the Mermaids stand? All the "Mermaids" - all those who are different, who do not fit the norm and who do not accept the available boxes and pigeonholes?

Answer that question and you can build a school, a nation, or a world on it.

What was my answer at the moment? Every once in a while I say the right thing. "The Mermaids stand right here by the King of the Seal!" says I...So we stood there hand in hand, reviewing the troops of Wizards and Giants and Gnomes as they roiled by in wild disarray.

It is not true, by the way, that mermaids do not exist. I know at least one personally. I have held her hand.

Robert Fulghum
